Back In Action Assistive Device Recycling Exchange Program

Dear Consumer,

As another season passes, the Assistive Technology Advocacy Center (ATAC) of Disability Rights New Jersey (DRNJ) would like to thank you for using the Back In Action program. We hope you are pleased with the service the program has made in providing you with the assistive device you need, or assisting you with finding a new home for your device.

For those unfamiliar with our upgraded, online system, please take time to view our project. Access to the Back In Action site is easy. Individuals can visit the main DRNJ website at www.drnj.org and click on the Back In Action logo (located at the bottom of the left hand column), where they will automatically be taken to the new Back In Action website. Individuals may also access the Back In Action website directly by typing in the web address <http://backinaction.drnj.org/>

The Back In Action web site includes many features. Individuals can search for devices according to specific categories, such as computer, daily living, environmental adaptations, hearing, learning, cognitive & developmental, mobility, seating & positioning, speech communication, vehicle modification, and vision. Users may also search for a device located within a set mile from their zip code, or identify that they only want to look for devices for free. There is even a "Frequently Asked Questions" (FAQ) button located at the top of the screen.

Individuals without computer access at home may consider visiting their local library or Independent Living Center (ILC) for assistance accessing the website. A list of local independent living centers can be found at www.njsilc.org or by calling 732-571-3703 (voice) or 732-571-4878 (TTY). In addition, individuals may contact the DRNJ Intake Department at 1-800-922-7233 for assistance in navigating up-to-date Back In Action listings without a computer. For further assistance or to send comments, feel free to contact Back In Action at 1-800-DIAL TEC or e-mail us directly at BackInAction@drnj.org

We hope you will enjoy the new look of Back In Action and encourage you to send any comments or recommendations to us!

New Jersey Protection & Advocacy Becomes Disability Rights New Jersey

Trenton, NJ- New Jersey Protection and Advocacy, Inc., the state's designated protection and advocacy agency for persons with disabilities, announces it is changing its name effective October 1, 2008, to DISABILITY RIGHTS NEW JERSEY, while continuing its mission to advocate and advance the human, civil and legal rights of persons with disabilities.

"Our new name reflects our identity as part of the disability rights movement," according to Acting Executive Director, Joseph B. Young. "It is part of a trend among the protection and advocacy agencies, represented in all 50 states and the U.S. territories, to make our mission readily recognizable by people with disabilities and the general public."

Congress established the protection and advocacy systems beginning in the 1970s, in response to Geraldo Rivera's expose of Willowbrook Developmental Center, a public institution for people with developmental disabilities. Rivera found appalling conditions of abuse and neglect, and the public outcry demanded that systems be put in place to protect and advocate for people in our society who are among the most vulnerable.

Over the last 30 years, protection and advocacy systems have grown to encompass more issues of concern to people with disabilities, including discrimination, physical and program accessibility, special education, voter rights, access to healthcare, vocational rehabilitation, and assistive technology. DRNJ currently administers ten programs statewide, offering individual and systems legal and non-legal advocacy, outreach, education and training, and information and referral services.

DRNJ's staff of 41, its governing board (composed of a majority of persons with disabilities), and its advisory committees reflect a model that ensures people with disabilities, as well as racial, ethnic, and cultural minorities, are visible and important contributors.

When asked the single most important reason for working at DRNJ, the reply is invariably "the sense of satisfaction I receive in helping a person who lives in a society that presents challenges and barriers each day, and breaking down those barriers."
